

1 Adding an RSS Feed to Google Reader for Android

Perhaps the easiest way to add feeds to a mobile device with Google Reader is to edit them using a desktop browser (as above) and then synchronise them using Google Reader for Android. For this your Google Account needs to be added to the app. This can be added by pressing the menu button and the by choosing “Accounts”.

Should you wish to add feeds using your Android device, click on the plus sign with a circle around it underneath the time and paste the URL of the feed. This will then appear underneath “SUBSCRIPTIONS” as depicted below.

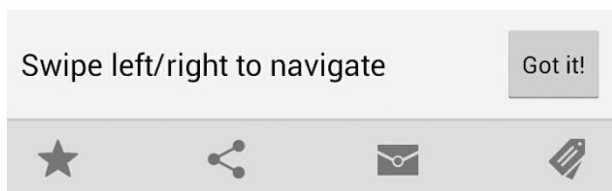

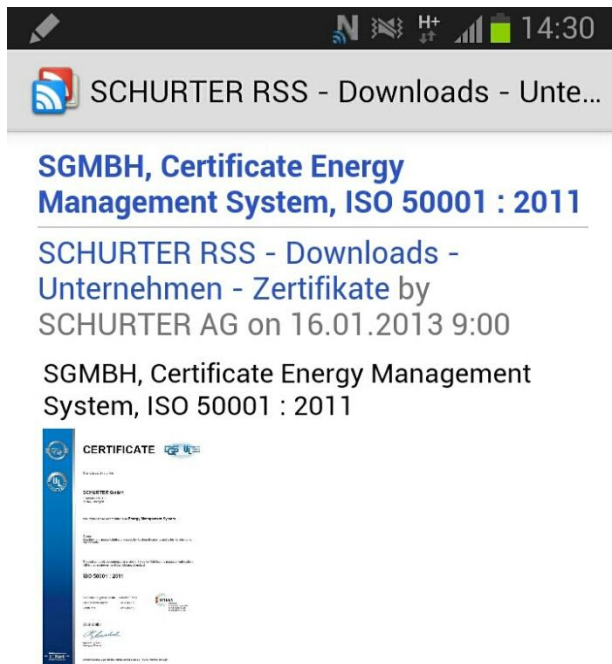

RSS – How to – Google Reader - Android
Creation date	Created by	Release date	Released by	Revision	Page
21.01.2013	MCA	21.01.2013	MCA		1 von 3

By touching the Feed, the list of articles appears.

RSS – How to – Google Reader - Android
Creation date	Created by	Release date	Released by	Revision	Page
21.01.2013	MCA	21.01.2013	MCA		2 von 3

By touching the name of the article, the article appears.

Touching the title allows you to download the file (in this case a PDF of a certificate).

RSS – How to – Google Reader - Android
Creation date	Created by	Release date	Released by	Revision	Page
21.01.2013	MCA	21.01.2013	MCA		3 von 3